Introduction

This report reviews the operation of our Code of Practice. All information within this report relates to the period 1 March 2020 to 28 February 2021. Future reporting periods will run annually from 1 March. This report is available on request and via the NBRA website, (www.nbra.org.uk); copies are distributed to consumer organisations and others.

Disciplinary Panel

Should a disciplinary matter arise where intervention is required to act on the member, the NBRA make use of the NBRA Executive Committee. We carefully put the case across to our committee to ensure we do not mention any business information to ensure the opinions and outcomes are based on the evidence and facts and to ensure that an impartial view of the matter is considered.

There has never been a need for the panel to convene, although the Disciplinary Procedure is discussed in Executive Committee Meetings – testament to the quality of work undertaken by NBRA members, the membership inspection regime to which they voluntarily submit which ensures they are monitored in terms of their premises, equipment, technical training, customer care and operation of the NBRA Code of Practice and to their individual ability to quickly remedy any problem, as it arises, to their customers satisfaction.

Code of Practice Periodic Review

The Code of Practice was last reviewed and approved by CTSI in June 2017. The NBRA Code of Practice is shown on the website www.nbra.org.uk

Complaints and Conciliation

NBRA provides access to a free Conciliation and access to low cost Arbitration service. Sanctions in the event of a breach of the Code are detailed in the Code wording. Consumers are kept informed of the progress of their complaint.

For the period 1 March 2020 to 29 February 2021 the number of cases referred to Conciliation was 1. This case came directly from the complainant, (customer).

Of this 1 case:

1 Ongoing

The total number of complaints as a proportion to total repairs carried out by NBRA members is miniscule, demonstrating, yet again, an over-all extremely high level of satisfaction amongst customers with the services and workmanship provided by NBRA members.

More details can be made available through the National Conciliation Service who act as our provider of ADR and to ensure that the NBRA remains impartial towards customers.

Monitoring of Customer Satisfaction

The NBRA have updated their website in 2021 and the review functionality has not yet been applied to the website, nor have member profiles. For the purpose of this report, we have therefore collated information from Google reviews and other online review applications of our 305 Code of Practice approved members. The data was sourced through Google and used the first page of results to find reviews, if they were not shown on the Google My Business pane. This method will be used for future annual reports as it generates substantial review data. The individual results can be seen in APPENDIX A

It should also be noted that not all members of the NBRA are approved and audited to the Code of Practice yet. The results shown within this report only references the 305 members who have been audited.

While we encourage members to use online reviews, it should be noted that:

- Many members have in place, instead, one or more similar and competing schemes which take precedence over use of the generic model.
- NBRA does not measure the number of repairs carried out by its Members, although the number of repairs carried out by Members in the period is considerable. We cannot therefore estimate the proportion of those repairs that are subject to either NBRA or alternative Customer Satisfaction Schemes.
- From 2020 onwards, the NBRA will report any ratings found from the first page of a google search to add greater data capture and adds extra validation to the results.

Customer response cannot be mandated as part of our audit and we draw the inference that dissatisfied customers are more likely to leave feedback than satisfied customers.

It is to be noted that for the purpose of this report, Google reviews and other online review applications do not seek positive feedback; it requests customers leave positive and/or negative feedback.

The responses collected from online reviews has given a fantastic set of results and generally demonstrates the excellent service and results offered by our members. Again, although using an alternative source for the reviews to previous years reporting, there are similar patterns to those exhibited in previous years. Observations:

Scope: 305 CTSI Approved Members
Google Reviews: 283 Member Businesses
Facebook: 2 Member Businesses
FreeIndex: 1 Member Business
Cardealerreviews.co.uk: 1 Member Business
No Reviews Found: 14 Member Businesses

Reviews Identified: 11149
Average Rating (out of 5 stars): 4.5

Not all dissatisfaction requires Conciliation. Where a “con” is recorded customers frequently qualify their answer (e.g stating that the vehicle was not ready at the agreed time, but the business informed me of the changes and kept me up to date) The is still regarded as a “con” answer and may not be a true reflection of the customer satisfaction.

Code Compliance Checks

NBRA operates a system of check prior to acceptance into membership and periodically thereafter via Area Managers who interact directly with Members face to face. Due to Coronavirus our interaction with members face to face has been heavily affected. For the period of 1 March 2020 to 28 February 2021 we have undertaken remote audits to ensure ongoing compliance with the Code. Initial and ongoing compliance discussions emphasis the obligations to be accepted and complied with regarding code approval. In the period of 1 March 2020 to 28 February 2021, 106 audits were conducted.

On site audits are undertaken to police compliance with NBRA’s high standards of which code compliance is a small element only.

Code inspections address member awareness of the Code and their responsibilities thereunder (Appendix B). The Code is also available via the NBRA Website.

Some members are precluded from displaying the NBRA and CTSI Logos under commercial agreements with their principal work providers. We acknowledge each member enterprise to be an individual business which consequently may choose what to and what not to display. In the spirit of approval requirements, we strongly encourage the display of relevant, correctly positioned signage.

It should be further noted that not all members qualify or have not yet been audited for the Code Approval. Those members who do qualify are sent to Referenceline to add to the CCAS websites.

NBRA's essential interest is that members comply with the Code for consumer protection purposes.

Where a compliance inspection highlights areas requiring action or improvement these matters are taken up and remedied on the spot by the NBRA Area Manager.

We are targeted to carry out formal Code inspections on a third of qualifying members annually. In the period covered by this report 106 audits were completed.

Membership Changes

NBRA updates the CTSI and supporting websites with withdrawals from and additions to membership. Protocols are in place to warn withdrawn members the CTSI and NBRA signage must be removed from display. Any instances of continuing non-compliance with instructions to remove signage are referred to local Trading Standards Offices.

Summary

The NBRA see the benefit of having a Code of Practice to benefit consumers. CTSI Approval enhances members' existing dedication to quality and service and is seen as a positive benefit to all concerned.

The Code of Practice underpins governance of the interaction between customer and repairer and seeks to ensure, on the rare occasions something might go wrong there is a workable customer facing mechanism to quickly put matters right, to the satisfaction of all parties.
